

THE THREATENED INDIAN WAR.

One Thousand Mounted Scouts Detailed by the Secretary of War.

JOHN FENNIA MEETING—A FAILURE.

Death of the Cherokee Chief, John Ross.

SENATE TO GEN. SHERMAN—HIS SPEECH.

WASHINGTON, Wednesday, August 1, 1866.

THE INDIAN WAR.

The following important order was to-day issued by the Secretary of War:

One thousand Indian scouts will be organized, mounted and equipped immediately to serve with the following commands, viz: Lieut. Gen. S. T. Sherman, 600; Major Gen. Halleck and Sheridan, 200 each.

It is the understanding that these scouts will be used in the commands of Gen. Sherman and Sheridan to protect officers in charge of the Freedmen's Bureau and Government officials in Southern States.

A JOHNSON FENNIA MEETING.

Pursuant to a call, which has been noted in previous dispatches, a Fennia demonstration was attempted to-night at Grover's Theater. The building contained a fair crowd, sprinkled with ladies, but the faces of but eight Irishmen. Of the notables were Senator Patterson, Tenn., Pat. Hogan, M. C. Missouri, and George Francis Train. Government officials and clerks composed two-thirds of the audience, and, I estimate, the better part of these from the Quartermaster's office. The Fennia organizations of Washington are in no way connected with this affair, either in authorizing the call, or in the meeting in a body, or in any manner. United States Sen. from Ohio, Mr. Sherman, and Deputy Provost-Marshal O'Brien and newspaper chronicler, Mr. B. B. Brown, were present. The meeting was held at 10 o'clock, and was attended by about 100 persons. The meeting was held at 10 o'clock, and was attended by about 100 persons. Gen. T. T. Eckert to-day tendered his resignation as Assistant Secretary of War, to take effect at once, that he may accept the position of General Superintendent of the Eastern Division of the American Western Union and United States Telegraph, as now consolidated under the title of the Western Union and American Cable, and extending from Norfolk and Washington northward and eastward to the Atlantic Ocean, and southward to the Gulf of Mexico, and the Atlantic Cable. The argument in the case of the Adams Express Company for an injunction to restrain the Orange and Alexandria Railroad Company from violating a contract made with that company, was concluded yesterday in Alexandria. AMERICAN DENTAL ASSOCIATION.

EVENING SESSION ON TUESDAY—SECOND DAY'S PROCEEDINGS—ACCIDENT TO DR. ROBBINS OF NEW-JERSEY.

Special Dispatch to The N. Y. Tribune.

BOSTON, Wednesday, Aug. 1, 1866.

The American Dental Association held an evening session yesterday, the chief interest of which was marked by the induction into office of the newly elected officers of the association. The retiring President, Dr. C. W. Spaulding of St. Louis, Mo., addressed the body in a well-considered and impressive valedictory, touching the importance of a higher standard of professional education among dentists, and suggesting the means by which this great desideratum might be obtained. The new President, Dr. C. P. Fitch of New York City, was then introduced by Dr. Spaulding, and briefly addressed the Association, whereupon the ordinary routine of business was resumed. The reports of Committees and the discussion of growing out of them occupied the time of the evening session.

Wednesday, Monday, Aug. 1.—The Association convened at 10 a. m., and was called to order by the President. Reports of committees being in order, Dr. Morgan of Nashville, Tenn., on behalf of the Committee on Dental Physiology and Pathology, read a somewhat lengthy but interesting paper as the report of said Committee. This provoked a lively discussion, in which Dr. McQuillin of Philadelphia, Alipho of Chicago, Atkinson of New York, and others, took part. This discussion continued until the hour of 12, when the session adjourned and marched down in a body, by invitation, to the Academy of Music, to listen to a concert.

Dr. C. P. Fitch, an enterprising artist of this city, whose really splendid efforts in this respect must challenge the admiration of all who behold them. It is the same artist who photographed the Baptist National Convention, not long since, on the same spot, and also the New-England Methodist Centenary Convention, under the Big Elm on Boston Common. These pictures are a marvel of their kind, and of those Boston notions that we sometimes read about.

This afternoon the members of the Association are indulging in recreation and sight-seeing. During the forenoon, photography, and while the members of the Association were standing in order on the steps of the Capitol, a very sad accident occurred to one of the pleasure of the occasion, Dr. Robbins of Newark, N. J., who exposed to the intense rays of the sun, fell from exhaustion, upon the granite steps, fracturing his jaw and otherwise injuring himself. We learn that he is quite unwell at the time, and the exposure was more than he could stand. Being a heavy man, his fall was severe.

ANOTHER DISPATCH.

BOSTON, August 1.—The sessions of the American Dental Association, which is holding its sixth annual meeting here, were continued today. The Association was organized in 1860, and has since that time been holding annual meetings in different parts of the country. The sessions of the Association were continued today, and the members were engaged in various exercises, including a visit to the State House and a walk in the park.

the increase of their salaries, it is pretty clearly established that every one of them had drawn the extra pay.

WASHINGTON, Monday, July 30, 1866.

Sir: I reply to your letter of the 27th inst., that if after August 1, 1866, a bank should receive the notes of State banks in the usual course of business, and return them for redemption to the institution by which they were issued, it would not be a paying out of such notes, within the meaning of such act, March 3, 1863, amended July 13, 1866. If the notes in question are forwarded to New York or Philadelphia to bankers there, for the purpose of cashing them, the liabilities would not be incurred.
